Courses of Study

Bachelor's students (undergraduate)	Master's students (graduate)
• can be matriculated in up to two B.A. courses of study. • Please note: there are several different German B.A. courses of study (focusing for example either on literature or on linguistics), thus, please make sure that you choose the correct one(s). • German – German Literature – German Linguistics	• can only be matriculated in one M.A. course of study. • Please note that as a B.A. student you cannot take M.A. classes and vice versa.

WEBSITE

Module Structure

- Each course of study consists of different modules, which structure the course content thematically and chronologically.
- All modules that you need to take in a course of study are listed in study and examination regulations. (for degree students)
- A module consists of several components and concludes with a final module examination.
  - Course types: Lecture, Seminar, Tutorial, Exercise
  - Exam types: Written/Oral Exam, Take-Home-Exam, Term Paper/Essay

Module Structure

- To complete a module all components must have been attended/completed and a final module examination (MAP) must have been passed
- Each module and all associated courses and examinations are allocated a certain number of credit points/ECTS.
- Final Module examination = Modulabschlussprüfung (MAP)
  - exam is usually only taken in one or two courses of the module
  - Exam grade applies to all components/courses of the module
  - Grades are given in decimal numbers: 1,0 (excellent) - 4,0 (sufficient) = Pass; 5,0 = Fail

Module Structure

- For exchange students at SprachLit Faculty we created Study Guides → they list all modules you can take, including which courses/components each module consists of, the ECTS per course/exam and the type of exam for the module
  - Study Guides on our website
- The topics of the courses may vary from semester to semester.
  - There are usually several seminars to choose from, from which 1-2 are then selected.
  - Please refer to the course catalogue (AGNES) to find out which courses of a module are offered in specific semesters. But always keep Study Guides in mind!

Module Structure - Example

Study Guide for B.A. American Studies

General information

If you are enrolled in B.A. American Studies, you are only allowed to choose from:

1. B.A. American Studies special modules (under "Bachelorstudiengang Amerikanistik (Programmstudierende)" on AGNES)
   - Please note that you cannot combine the special modules A and B nor the special modules A and C during Winter Semester
2. B.A. English special modules
3. Language Practice courses
   - You can choose 1-2 ungraded B.A. Language Practice courses as single classes (Sprachpraxis) per semester. Since the list on AGNES combines B.A. and M.A. classes, please check that it is a B.A. class by clicking on the class and scrolling down to "Studiengänge." Registration is via AGNES.

Please note which modules are available during the Winter and Summer Semester.

Important remarks

Please note that you are only allowed to choose from these modules above and not from any other modules that you might find on AGNES or online.

If the table shows the name of a specific class (e.g. "American Cultural History"), you must choose this class on AGNES. If it says "Choose one lecture/seminar" etc. then you can freely choose from the list on AGNES.

- On the first page there is always general information about which courses you can choose from.
- You will also find direct links to the course catalogue for the current semester.
- Please note that only the Study Guides for English/American Studies are in English. All others are in German.

Inhalt

Kommentar	This course will explore contemporary U.S. American graphic memoirs, exploring how comics serve as a powerful medium for autobiographical storytelling. Together, we will discuss how artists narrate personal and intimate experiences through the interplay of image and text. We'll study how image and text work together to visualize trauma, self-representation, memory, and resilience—and learn what makes the comic medium such an affective space for narrating stories of illness, displacement, queerness, race, and coming of age. Our exploration will focus on both the form and content of these works, analyzing how issues of gender, class, and race are portrayed within these narratives and how they engage with broader U.S. American cultural, social, and political contexts. Readings will include a diverse range of voices and styles, from graphic memoirs like Art Spiegelman's Maus and Alison Bechdel's Fun Home, to more recent works by George Takei, Cece Bell, Nora Krug, and Kindra Neely. As part of the course, students will have the opportunity to create their own short graphic memoirs, using accessible tools such as Making Comics by Lynda Barry, Canva, or StoryboardThat. This activity is planned to invite students to experiment with visual storytelling and reflect on their own experiences—no artistic background or drawing skills required.

How to fill out SprachLit CC

- In order to fill out SprachLit CC → you will follow the steps on how to proceed with Class Selection
- There are 3 basic steps!

1. Check Study Guide of the course(s) of study you are matriculated in
2. Search for the module in the course catalogue (AGNES) and select courses
3. Put module and it's components on your SprachLit CC

WEBSITE

Class Selection:

How to fill out SprachLit CC

- You can only choose classes from modules that are listed in the study guide. Other modules are not open to incoming students!
- If you need exams / grades
  - Select modules with all courses + exam according to module structure in study guide
- If you only need ECTS (Pass/Fail)
  - You can choose single classes from modules
- If you are unsure if you need a grade: choose complete modules with exams (you can always drop the exams). → But please remember to let us know about changes!

WEBSITE

Class Selection:

How to fill out SprachLit CC

- A module exam can only be taken if modules are taken according to the module structure.
- From experience of our past Incoming students:
  - Do not choose more than 1 or 2 term papers per semester. If possible, choose other exam forms.
  - > high workload after semester, take longer to be graded
- Remember: Tutorials are usually voluntary and are not part of the module structure. Please also list them on your SprachLit CC.
- You build your class schedule yourself!
- It is your responsibility that your classes do not overlap!

Class Registration (Teaser)

We will discuss this topic in detail on October 6, 2025.

For now, the following slides are only intended to help you if you want to/can already register for courses before October 6.

At semester start:

Class Registration on AGNES

- In order to register for the selected courses from the course catalogue (AGNES) a HU account is required.
- Your HU account must first be activated with a PIN. You will receive this PIN personally from the incoming team (for entire HU) as soon as you are in Berlin.
- Don't panic if you don't have your HU account yet. There is still time!
- If you have questions/problems with your HU account please write: exchange-students@hu-berlin.de
  - See also the info for exchange semester at HU-Berlin

WEBSITE

At semester start:

Class Registration on AGNES - Guide

1. Open AGNES and log in with your HU account
2. Click on the class you want to register for
3. Choose a group (if there are different ones) and click on „Register now/sign off“
4. Make sure that the right course of study is selected at the top (only relevant for those matriculated in 2 BA courses of study)
5. Click on „Register lectures“
6. Make sure your schedule shows everywhere „AN“ (registered)
7. Take a screenshot of your schedule before the deadline (October 8, 2025) is over.

IMPORTANT: To register for language practical classes in M.A. English Literatures/American Studies you must write an e-mail to the instructor (information in course description on AGNES).

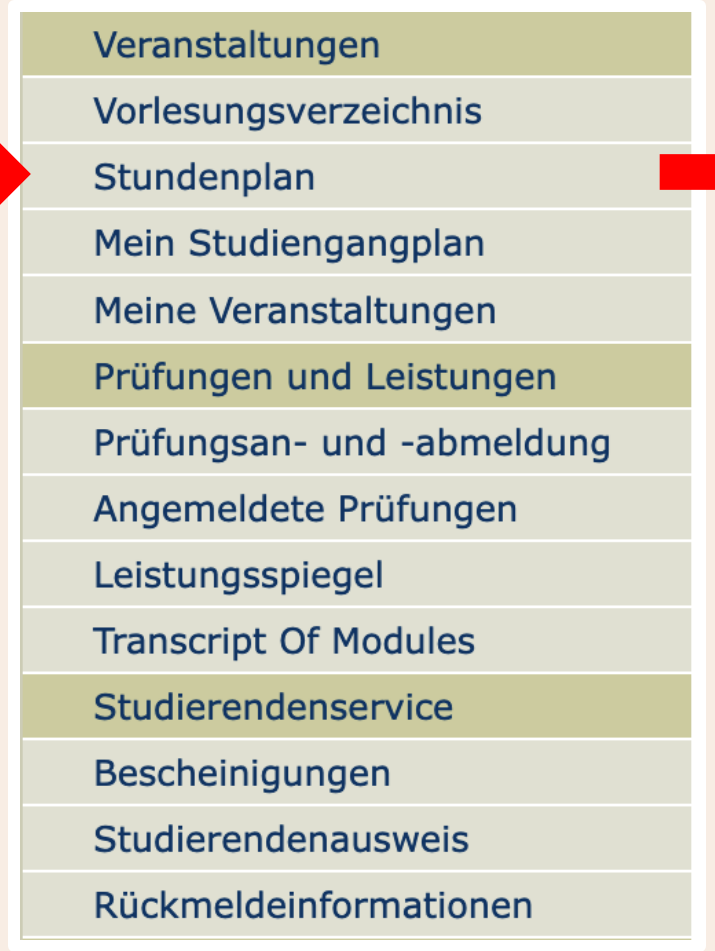
Class Registration on AGNES - Schedule



Step 6 + 7:

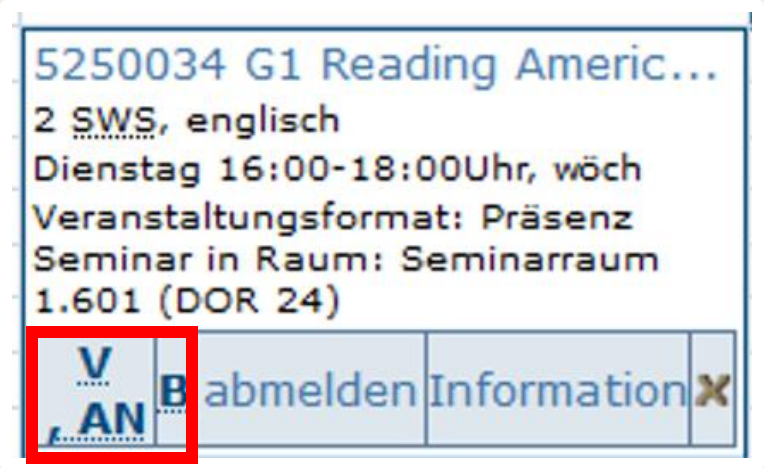
Make sure your schedule shows everywhere „AN“ (registered).

Take a screenshot of your schedule before the deadline (October 8, 2025) is over!

At semester start:

Class Registration on AGNES

- It just matters when you first register that it says „AN“ (registered).
- Please do not worry if this field has a different symbol or a „?“ later.
- The weekend before the lecture period starts, you will receive automatic e-mails telling you in which classes you have received a spot.



Automatic e-mail → received spot in class

no automatic e-mail + class is no longer in your schedule in AGNES → no spot in class

At semester start:

Class Registration on AGNES – No Spot

If you did not receive a spot (also if you could not register on AGNES):

- DO NOT PANIC!
- Send an e-mail to the instructor/go to the first session and ask if you can still receive a spot.
- It does not matter whether the class shows up on your AGNES or not. It is just important that the instructor gave you a spot and that you have access to the Moodle course (if there is one). Exam registration and your Transcript creation are separate from AGNES class registration.
- We cannot see or change anything regarding your class registration. You must talk to the lecturers directly.

If you cannot get the spot after asking:

- Please choose an alternative class and e-mail the instructor/go to the first session of that class to ask if you can still join.
- Please make sure to follow the guide when choosing an alternative class (especially for whole modules).
