<sup>1</sup> § 97 para. 2 General Admission, Study and Examination Regulations of Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin (ZSP-HU); the topic of the thesis shall be set by a professor who shall also take on the role of supervisor. Upon decision of the relevant Examination Board, these duties may also be taken on by another full-time university teacher entitled to teach independently or by a temporary lecturer with relevant professional and educational experience. The topic shall become binding once it is communicated to the student in writing. The time allotted to complete the thesis shall begin the day after notification of the topic. Within the first two weeks of this allotted time, the student can reject the topic without giving a reason. In this case, the registration and admission to the thesis shall be deemed not to have taken place. It is possible to reject a topic once for the first examination attempt and once for the resit.

<sup>3</sup> You are entitled to copy documents once for your own purposes. However, for copyright reasons, this does not include the right to distribute these documents or to make them publicly available online. In these cases, the authors are entitled to claim injunctive relief and damages against the infringer (§§ 97, 97a German Copyright Act [UrhG]).

Additional procedural notes:

The topic shall become binding once it is communicated to the student in writing (§ 97 para. 2 sentence 5 ZSP-HU). The time allotted to complete the thesis shall begin the day after written notification of the topic (§§ 97 para. 3 sentence 2 ZSP-HU). As soon as the Examination Board has made a decision regarding the application, the student shall receive written notification to this effect.
