Informationen für Erstsemesterstudierende am Geographischen Institut

Geographisches Institut, Alfred-Rühl-Haus

Herzlich Willkommen an der Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin!

Auf den folgenden Seiten finden Sie wichtige Informationen, die Ihnen den Einstieg an der Universität erleichtern sollen.

Weitere Informationen können Sie auch den folgenden Homepages entnehmen:

- Mathematisch-Naturwissenschaftliche Fakultät
- Geographisches Institut

Übrigens: Am 15.10.2018 findet von 11:30-13:00 Uhr die zentrale Semester-auftaktveranstaltung in Adlershof statt. Das Programm finden Sie hier: Semesterauftaktveranstaltung
To the new geography students starting in the winter semester 2018/19

Dear soon-to-be students,

Welcome to the Geography Department of the Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin (HU) – one of Germany’s and Europe’s oldest and most popular geography departments.

You have made an excellent choice: Geography is an exciting, diverse and highly relevant subject that deals with pivotal questions of humankind and seeks to find solutions in the light of global change, worldwide migration, international competitions between cities, economic globalisation processes, the ageing and social polarisation of western societies with concurrently increasing climate extremes, unsolved water issues and loss of biodiversity.

Our department at the HU is a young institution in terms of our employees and our newly structured study programmes and divisions. We primarily deal with the interface between human and physical geography. With our main focus on land use and urban transition we take a perspective onto the environment in an interdisciplinary way and with strong ties to neighbouring sciences such as sociology, ethnology, spatial planning, informatics, climate research or hydrology.

The study programmes at our department are research-oriented but also aim at a practical implementation of geography in planning and the private sector. Our university’s Integrated Research Institutes (IRI) pursue an interdisciplinary research approach in collaboration with other universities. The current co-chair of the Integrative Research Institute on Transformations of Human-Environment Systems (IRI THESys) and the director of the Georg-Simmel-Centre for Metropolitan Studies both are geographers from our department. So with us you are truly sitting in a front row seat.

Through several adjustments of our study programmes in recent years we have created a modern study structure that offers a variety of choices. We build upon an excellent and trustful relationship between our lecturers, the administration and the students. Our remarkably active and ever helpful student initiative (FSI) will introduce itself in the following pages and will certainly assist you during the early weeks of your new studies.

Berlin offers a great and inspiring atmosphere to study. Our campus in Adlershof presents a professional study environment and a welcome respite from the turmoil of Berlin City.

I wish you a successful start at our department!

My best wishes,

Prof. Dr. Christoph Schneider
Executive Director
Introductory days for winter term 2018/19
October 10th to 12th 2018

Dear soon-to-be master students,

We, the student initiative at the Geography Department, welcome you! For an easy and pleasant start in your master’s program, we would like to introduce you to the campus, our department and your program’s structure in our introduction days from October 10th to 12th. You’ll find the schedule for our introduction days on the next page. Some activities are designed for Bachelor students but are nevertheless very helpful for students new to Humboldt University or the campus.

In addition, several welcoming events are scheduled following up the introduction days. Events specifically for MSc Global Change Geography students are highlighted below:

- On Friday, October 12th an optional warm-up course in statistics recommended for all new MSc students is scheduled at 10.00 am in room 1’201 at the Geography Department.
- Monday, 15th October is the so-called “dies academicus”. There are no lectures on this day but a campus-wide welcoming event for all students at the Erwin-Schrödinger-Zentrum (room 0’115) in Adlershof starting 11.30 am.
- All first semester MSc students are invited to meet all the lecturers of the MSc on Tuesday, October 16th at 9:15 am in room 1’201 at the Geography Department. This meeting starts the coursework of the semester. It replaces the first seminar of Module MSc2 and will directly lead into the first lecture of that module.

November 9th to 11th will be our weekend trip for new students. We’ll take you out “into the wild” for a weekend, with plenty of time to get to know each other and have fun with all kinds of activities. The entire weekend trip will set you back 35€, including transport, food and lodging. The trip is designed for Bachelor students but will be a fun experience for new master students, too. Please note that the registration as well as most of the trip activities will be in German language. Number of trip participants is limited, so make sure to register soon on www.fachschaftgeographie.de.

For any questions leading up the introduction days or your study program in general, feel free to contact our student guidance at studienberatung.geographie@geo.hu-berlin.de.

We are looking forward to meeting you during our introduction days and our weekend trip!

Best,
your student representatives in geography
Introduction days for winter term 2018/19

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Wednesday, October 10(^{th})</th>
<th>Thursday, October 11(^{th})</th>
<th>Friday, October 12(^{th})</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>11.00 am, Foyer of the department</td>
<td>11.00 am, Foyer of the department</td>
<td>10.00 am, room 1’201 at the department</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Welcome speech by Prof. Dr. Christoph Schneider (director of the department) and the student initiative (FSI).</td>
<td>In our department rallye, you get to explore the most relevant sites inside our department.</td>
<td>Warm-up course in statistics for everyone who feels a little rusty or wants to get an overview on which methods to get familiar with for this master program.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11.30 am</td>
<td>2.00 pm until 4.00 pm, room 0’06 Walter-Nernst-Haus (Newtonstr. 14)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Campus rallye. You’ll get to know the Campus Adlershof and we show you how to create your Campus-Card (student ID). Afterwards will be a FAQ for your study program. We’ll give you an overview of your study and examination regulations and show you what’s to come in the upcoming semesters. Meet our administrational platforms AGNES and moodle. Please bring the login data to your Humboldt university account if you already have one, otherwise bring your matriculation documents so we can help you create one.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction of all divisions at our department. Here you can make yourself familiar with the people and fields of research at our department.</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.30 pm</td>
<td>8.00 pm</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barbecue with students from other departments at the student café ‘MOPS’. There will be steaks, sausages as well as vegetarian and vegan food at low prices.</td>
<td>“Studying social geography of Berlin’s night life.” Let’s get together and have some drinks at the Flaschenzug-Bar, Emser Straße 16, 12051 Berlin. [S/U-station Neukölln or Hermannstraße]</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>